Will your tender stand out from the competition?

5 checks to make sure your presentation is up to scratch...

1. Is it CLEAR?

Effective presentation isn't just about looking pretty – it helps the reader quickly find the important information. A clutterless, concise layout will ensure it's a pleasure to look at – important when you've piles of tenders to look through.

2. Is it CONSISTENT?

When you have several people pulling together different sections, you need to be sure that when it all comes together, it all looks the same. If it doesn't, what does that say about your organisation?

3. Is it APPROPRIATE?

It's always important to look professional, but in some cases, you need to be sure you don't go overboard – to show you can spend money wisely, whilst, at the same time, to show you have the resources to back your proposal.

4. Is it FINISHED?

Bits missing? You need to be sure that you're able to add parts at the 11th hour – rush the presentation and it will look shabby, but rush the figures and it won't matter anyway.

5. Could it be BETTER?

What could you do to go that extra mile? What could you do to add that final touch? Remember – if you don't do it, more often than not, the competition will.
